The Tables d'Hote are not so much frequented as formerly, and those who do dine at these tables, are very careful what they say or do. There is positively less personal liberty in France now, than there was in the time of Louis Phillippe. Correspondence of the N. Y. Evening Post . | Review of the Portsmouth Market, for the week ending, Nov. 4, 1850.

GENERAL REMARKS:-Upon our weekly Since I last wrote to you, I perceive in seview of the trade of the past week, we wards the close. The fine weather has doubtless contributed to the improvement. as also the fine stage of the river and tributaries. Huge quantities of goods are arriving to be re-shipped by Canal, which is also boats to and from Portsmouth are running punctually in their customary routes. Our wharf presents a busy scene, in comparison with its appearance twenty years since.

Our readers are respectfully referred to the following transactions of our market as they have transpired during the week :

FLOUR & GRAIN.—The sales of flour, have been large during the week, and the arrivals by canal have been correspondingly large. We point our readers with pleasure to the fact that flour can be bought at Portsmouth, on as favorable terms as at any other This has not as a general rule been the case until the present season, and the largely increased trade is the consequence. The sales during the week of canal brands and home manufacture have averaged $3.60, and we note a firm feeling in the article this morning. Wheat has not changed in price since our last review. Oats have slightly advanced, and would bring 30c from wagons. New Corn is selling at 25c.

Coffee market is dull, in anticipation of a decline, it is touched lightly, and we reduce our figures slightly. quote a prime article at 13c.

Let the Afflicted Read!

The principle of disease, like that of the principle of life, is alike incomprehensible to mankind. We only are able to point out what will weaken the one or give strength to the other. The value of the Brandreth Pills depends upon their wonderful power in strength. coing the principle of life, and weakening the principle of disease, and finally expelling it from the body. Let us consider the subject carefully: would disease affect us if our blood were pure? Then, in proportion that Brandreth's Pills purify the blood, they tend to restore health. The reversation now the western store health. The very action upon the system which Brandreth Pills possess, convinces all who use them that they remove only the impure humors. For if they took any of the healthy fluids from the body, it would be weakened. But the contrary is the case. The body becomes stronger every day, from the use of the Brandreth Pills, as is known by the experience of tens of thousands of our citizens.

Where is the man of sense, whose mind is unprejudiced, who, from the infectious smell after death, would not say, would this body have been bereft of life, had purtrefaction been prevented ?-- are men born but to be sick, shall the lower animals live their full extent, and man only prematurely perish? Let us follow nature—let us cleanse the blood from impuri-ties, and we shall live to the full extent of the oil in our lamp of fife.

But continued purging will wear out the body—some otherwise sensible people affirm, that it is like wearing out the kettle by dint of rubbing. Does, then, rust preserve metalic substances? It would be admitting that im-purities in the blood preserve it in a healthy condition. We know better. We know that e result of an impure state of the blood is to occasion salt rheum, erysipelas, weakness, general debility, pains in the breast, buck and side; remarkable improvement took place. I remarkable improvement took place. I remember one person, who I know had worms, from his peculiar symptoms; he persovered for forty days; every day for the forty days, no appearance of worms was seen, but after that time he voided great numbers, some of extraordingry size. What office records have recorded dinary size. What effect would have resulted from three or four doses of cathartics?—what would have become of him, if he had not been purged to a radical cure? It would be impossible to show the benefit to be derived from a proper perseverance with the Brandreth Pills in these limits. They must be used to be sufficiently appreciated.
